Primary school's pride at achieving national award

TRINITY C of E/Methodist Primary School in Skelmersdale has achieved the Inclusive School Award with Centre of Excellence status.

Tony Currie, headteacher, said that after the school received the Inclusive Quality Mark, "this tremendous award recognises the hard work and dedication of our parents, staff and children - especially how well we work in partnership to meet the needs of our amazing children."

IQM said the school's vision clearly has its "foundations in 'togetherness' and this is not just part of their religious ethos, but it is all encompassing and at the heart of the entire school and also their Sunflower and Seedlings Nursery."

IQM also noted that the school employs a "proactive and inspiring scheme" which include 'giving the children a voice and a time to discuss and put thought into their

RESIDENTS KICK UP A STINK AT 'TOXIC
SMELL' OVER TOWN

MP demands probe into waste facility but landfill site's owners insist the odour not linked to them

Report by Henry James

RESIDENTS in Skelmersdale are kicking up a stink about what they say is a 'toxic smell' hanging over the area.

Many believe the smell is coming from the Whitemoss Waste Management Facility but the site's owners Veolia, say they have carried out checks and so far, "nothing linked to the landfill" has been found.

One resident posted on social media: "This smell in old Skem is so bad. I hope it's resolved soon - concerning that it's so awful, I hope it's not harmful."

Another stated: "I've just walked down the high street and it's awful, the smell is worse than before."

Since the waste facility was expanded, residents have frequently raised concerns about dust clouds being released from the site and repeated 'obnoxious' smells.

Owners of the Whitemoss landfill site say that it is not to blame for the smell

MP Rosie Cooper has called for an urgent investigation and said that residents' concerns over the Whitemoss Landfill site during the years have been ignored.

A Veolia spokesperson, however, said that odour is constantly monitored at the site and investigations by the Environment Agency and the county council have found nothing linked to the site.

They said: "We would like to reassure the residents that since acquiring the site in 2019, we constantly monitor odour as part of our daily activities.

"Gas company Cadent visited the site to undertake a gas survey adjacent to the landfill but they found nothing and they are carrying out further investigations in the local area.

"We have also met the West Lancashire Council's local Environment Health team on-site who have been carrying out odour

Police put the brakes on illegal motorbikes

Vehicles pose a 'serious threat' to safety

Report by Henry James

POLICE will hold a crackdown on illegal motorbikes that pose a "serious threat to public safety" in West Lancashire.

Officers in the borough are taking part in Operation Propulsion, which is a county-wide scheme set up to combat illegal motorcycles and riders.

Police want to make people aware of the laws about owning and riding motorcycles so that owners and riders can behave responsibly and people who are affected by motorcycle nuisance know how to report it and what they can do about it.

A spokesperson for Lancashire Police said: "Op Propulsion cracks down on anti-social motor nuisance behaviour from riders who don't have insurance, drive erratically off-road, and drive at considerable speed.

"Some of the motor vehicles that are involved in this anti-social behaviour are stolen, others are often purchased without owners knowing that they require public liability insurance to ride them.

"We are working closely with partners to combat the problem and have several powers that we can use, that can lead to seizing nuisance motorcycles and quad bikes.

"Help us to help you report nuisance motorbikes and riders by

A bike which was recently seized in Skelmersdale reporting online at <https://orlo.uk/O2Eyd>, by calling 101 or anonymously through Crimestoppers on 0800 555111."

Police are advising people who are considering buying a motorcycle, quad bike or 'go-ped' for a child to ensure that whoever is selling it can provide proof of ownership and that it isn't stolen.

The vehicle will require public liability insurance and police want to remind people that riding a motorcycle in public areas is an offence. If people are prosecuted they could be fined, receive penalty points, and disqualification.

Learners must complete the appropriate CBT course to allow them to ride a motorcycle up to 125cc. To ride anything higher than this, a motorcycle test is required.

A motorcycle must have insurance to be in any public place, whether the motorcycle is being ridden, is parked, or is only being pushed.

A current MOT Certificate will be required for all motorcycles more than three years old.

This is required whether the motorcycle is being ridden, parked or is being pushed on the highway.

Mayor helps out Myeloma Support Group

WEST Lancs and Merseyside Myeloma Support Group was joined by the Mayor, Cllr Marilyn Westley at Tesco in Burscough for a Myeloma awareness day.

The day was arranged to raise awareness of the support group and the blood cancer Myeloma.

The Support Group consists of Myeloma patients and carers and help to make the Myeloma journey more bearable. The members can talk to patients who are going through similar treatment and learn from each other how to cope.

The group has raised funds and is currently arranging for a health professional to travel abroad to a Professionals Myeloma meeting, and return to inform GPs here how to diagnose Myeloma earlier, and therefore treat the cancer earlier.

The group meet once a month in Ormskirk. For more information, go to www.wlm-myeloma.uk or email support@wlm-myeloma.uk

The Christie has been criticised by Rosie Cooper MP, inset, for telling a patient to go to a London hospital for a scan.

Patient 'turned away from Christie Hospital for not being local'

MP slams NHS 'postcode lottery' after man was told he would have to go to London for scan

Report by Henry James

A MAN from West Lancashire undergoing treatment for prostate cancer says he was turned away from The Christie NHS Foundation Trust in Manchester for not being local and was then told to book an appointment at a London hospital.

Reverend Christopher Dunbar from Upholland, told MP Rosie Cooper he was experiencing a long delay in receiving a scan which he had been told was urgently needed to track the spread of cancer in his body.

He was then referred by his GP to The Christie Hospital because they believed it could provide this scan more quickly.

Ms Cooper said that The Christie told her they had not accepted this referral, as they are unable to offer urgent appointments to patients from outside of their area.

They then suggested his healthcare team "contact St Thomas' Hospital, London to see if they had capacity to accommodate an earlier appointment."

The Christie said a supply issue for a radio-isotope "for the highly specialised F18 prostate-specific membrane antigen (PSMA) PET CT scan" meant it was unable to offer him an urgent appointment.

The MP has raised this matter with regional NHS bosses and the Health Secretary, to ask why all NHS patients aren't treated equally, saying there is a growing postcode lottery in health care.

Ms Cooper said: "This is just further proof that we have lost the National in National Health Service."

"Reverend Dunbar was told he needed an urgent scan to track his prostate cancer.

"After waiting weeks, he asked to be referred to the Christie because he was told they could offer him a scan sooner.

"It is unbelievable that The Christie turned him away simply because he doesn't live in Greater Manchester.

"We should be offering appointments based on urgency and need, not geography. I find it disgraceful that the NHS has descended into protectionist kingdoms where each area looks after their own.

"The Christie also suggested he try to get a referral to a hospital in London instead!

"Surely, they realise how ridiculous that suggestion is, as London is 150 miles further for my constituent to travel.

"Thankfully, my constituent has now received his scan, but I'll continue to raise this with the Department for Health and the NHS to ensure everyone can get the care they need, no matter where they live!"

A spokesperson for The Christie, said: "There are ongoing challenges around production and supply of the radio-isotope for the highly specialised F18 prostate-specific membrane antigen (PSMA) PET CT scan resulting in delays of up to six weeks.

"The scan is not currently offered as routine standard of care. It is only available in a small number of specialist centres.

"Patients referred for this investigation by Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust would normally have it in Liverpool, but that site was experiencing delays due to the same radio-isotope supply issue.

"That same supply issue meant The Christie was unable to offer an urgent appointment to this patient.

"We instead advised the clinical team at Ormskirk Hospital to contact St Thomas' Hospital, to see if they could accommodate an earlier appointment.

"It is extremely unusual that we would advise a referral to London for patients from the North West, but is occasionally unavoidable for highly specialist tests and treatments with limited availability.

"Shortly afterwards, the patient was offered the investigation in Liverpool.

"The Christie continues to treat many patients from beyond Greater Manchester, with around 25% of patients coming from outside the area."

MP calls for investigation into cause of 'toxic smell' hanging over town checks and so far have found nothing linked to the landfill.

"We will continue to monitor and will liaise with the Environment Agency who are aware of the current situation."

The West Lancashire MP said: "Residents are continually subjected to obnoxious smells together with the threat of potentially hazardous substances being released into the air.

"It is no wonder people are really worried about this 'toxic' smell and what it might mean for their health.

"I have sought assurances from the county council and Environment Agency that these smells and any toxicity are being properly investigated.

"If anything is happening at the site that shouldn't be, I want to know about it, and it needs to be stopped quickly.

"The health of Skelmersdale residents must be put before any business interests."

actions toward their aspirations such as being a hero, a confident citizen, a passionate performer, a creator, a team player, a culture vulture, a nature warrior, a prayerful pupil, an explorer, to be happy and healthy, to be aware of others and importantly – having time to play and be a child.'

IQM commented that the headteacher was 'clear in relation to the inclusive strengths of the school, which became more and more apparent throughout the assessment day.'

They said, "he spoke with pride about how his team have an unmatched and meticulous knowledge of the school cohort and how challenging times nationally, only reaffirmed the bonds between the families and school."

The headteacher described his role as a worship leader and part of that role being the celebration of the success of others.

Staff spoken to during the assessment spoke of how their interests, skills and vocation perfectly matched their roles within school.

IQM also highlighted other issues, such as the school's 'Supportive' Governing Body; and the school's work with parents.

Officers who tackled church path thefts win policing award

Problem solving prize for team who caught thieves who stole valuable York stone

Report by Henry James

OFFICERS who tackled the theft of valuable York stone flags from churches in West Lancashire have won a POP (Problem Oriented Policing) Award for their "innovative approach" to the case.

On Wednesday, June 29, Officers from across the county attended the Police Headquarters at Hutton to deliver presentations showcasing their hard work and commitment to tackling crime and keeping communities safe.

The winners were PCs Fiona Rowe and Megan Boon who entered in the Police Now and Student Officers category.

They acted following a series of large scale thefts of York stone flags within four weeks

Lancashire Police said that their multi-layered partnership approach included cross border working and targeting of offenders, location mapping, property marking, crime prevention measures, and proactive patrols.

They also launched a social and national media campaign and established a 'Church watch' scheme, which contributed to a significant reduction in reported thefts.

Pop Awards winners PC Fiona Rowe and PC Megan Boon from West Lancashire with Deputy Chief Constable Sacha Hatchett and Police and Crime Commissioner Andrew Snowden who worked on the theft of church stones (left).

Deputy Chief Constable Sacha Hatchett said: "I am really proud of our officers and police staff who continuously apply innovative approaches to problem solving to keep our communities safe."

"The quality of submissions has been of an exceptionally high standard this year and I and the rest of the judges were extremely impressed with all of the category winners."

The winners will attend the National Problem Solving Conference at Burton-on-Trent.

Lancashire's Police and Crime Commissioner Andrew Snowden said: "The event highlighted some fantastic projects, showcasing officers and staff going above and beyond to tackle crime and to make Lancashire safer."

Muay Thai fighter's title win 'shows dreams can come true'

SCOTT Stewart, from Skelmersdale, has won the WBC European title in Muay Thai.

He won the 82.5kg Max European title on Saturday night (June 25) at the University of Bolton stadium – the home ground of Bolton Wanderers FC.

Muay Thai, which is sometimes called Thai boxing, is a combat sport using stand-up striking and various clinching techniques.

Scott's coach Peter Bleasdale from Skem Muay Thai & Martial Arts Centre in Birkbrig, said: "Scott won the fight by knock out with a perfectly timed head kick and flying knee."

"He is ranked number one in the UK and number three in the world now."

"He is an amazing talented young man born and bred in our town, and he has done his best to put Skelmersdale on the world map in Muay Thai."

"He's been a student of mine for 10 years, he's a brilliant young man, an amazing coach and a perfect role model for so many kids in our town and in our community."

"The kids in our gym idolise him and makes them realise dreams can come true."

Scott Stewart

Call for borough's health care bodies to be 'accountable and democratic'

'I question how these boards can deliver services for the community when they have no community representation'

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancashire County Councillor, Julie Gibson has called on the newly formed Integrated Care Systems (ICS) to remain focused on accountability and democracy when delivering health care services in the borough.

Provisions in the Health and Social Care Act 2022 will allow private sector involvement in delivering clinical services with the ability for private providers to hold seats on integrated care boards (ICBs).

Cllr Gibson said: "There are real concerns that these changes, particularly where new services are being commissioned or services are being changed, would allow contracts to be awarded to new providers without sufficient scrutiny, and again opening the door to private providers."

"There is no requirement on these boards to be democratically elected or to be representative of the communities they serve."

"I question how these boards can deliver services for the community when they have no community representation and accountability."

"We only have to look at the example of Virgin Care in our own area of West Lancashire who sold on their contract to deliver health care service in our own area to another company without any scrutiny or accountability to the local community."

Cllr Gibson added: "One of the controversial elements of the Bill is that it will hand greater powers to the Secretary of State."

"The proposals in the Bill would require the Secretary of State to be notified of all changes, no matter how large or small, temporary, or permanent."

"This could result in a decision-making log jam, placing a significant burden on local and national NHS bodies awaiting decisions."

Cllr Gibson said: "The Government argues the reforms aim to place collaboration rather than competition at the heart of how health care services are organised, and no-one could argue that joined up working is not to be welcomed."

"But let us not forget, it was a Conservative who created Trusts and introduced the market system into health care. It was wrong then and it is wrong now."

County Cllr Julie Gibson.

Police operation in Rufford found drivers doing double speed limit

POLICE in West Lancashire cracking down on speeding drivers in Rufford after concerns were raised in the community found some doing double the speed limit.

Officers were out and about in Rufford on Saturday, focusing on drivers committing 'fatal five' offences, which were: speeding; not wearing a seatbelt; using a mobile phone at the wheel; driving under the influence of drink; and driving under the influence of drugs.

And within just two hours they had stopped and dealt with: 17 people for speeding – several of whom were doing double the speed limit; one person who failed to stop; two people driving without due care, who have been summonsed to court; and four people not wearing seatbelts, who have also been summonsed to court.

A spokesperson for Ormskirk and Rural West Lancs police said: "We hope this shows that we will not stand for this type of offence. We will continue to patrol the area to and will deal robustly and proportionately with anyone who puts themselves and others in danger on the roads."

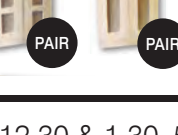

"To report vehicle crime or other road-related offences in the area please do so online at orlo.uk/FAgkD or call 101."

Look what's cooking!

THE Roy Evans Foundation has started running Community Cooking Smart sessions every Monday from 11am-12pm at Maghull Town Hall.

Ex-Liverpool FC manager Roy and his wife Mary, set up the Foundation to work with disadvantaged people.

The Foundation is also currently working on projects in care homes in Burscough and Ormskirk.

The cookery workshops have different sessions each week, from cooking demonstrations, sharing cooking recipes and even food bingo! Each Sunday, they work with local supermarkets to collect their surplus food and then have this food at their Monday sessions for the community to take home and use.

Chef James Holden, who has worked in top establishments including the Savoy, has shared his culinary skills with the group, and cooked up a biryani for everyone that attended to try.

Litter louts warned they could be fined £100 for dropping their rubbish

by Henry James

THE borough council is warning litter louts they face a £100 fixed penalty notice if they are caught dropping litter in the street or from cars.

They issued a statement after Skelmersdale North borough councillor Neil Furey said the louts were 'blighting the town' by deliberately discarding their rubbish, as reported in last week's Champion.

On Saturday, June 25 he attended Grimshaw Road subway and

Anyone caught discarding waste in the street, or from cars, faces a fixed penalty notice, says council filled four bags of litter.

After the council heard about Cllr Furey's anger, a spokesman responded: "West Lancashire Borough Council takes all environmental issues, including litter, very seriously.

"We can all help tackle litter by disposing of it properly, either in the nearest bin or by taking it home and putting it in the appropriate refuse or recycling bin.

"Anyone who sees a road or pavement where litter needs sweeping away or a litter bin that needs replacing can report this through the Council website using their self-service account.

"We also have an Environmental Enforcement Team which patrols the Borough looking out for litter. This team can issue £100 fixed penalty notices to people who drop litter in the street or from cars. The money generated from the fixed penalty notices is re-invested into litter prevention initiatives."

Pupil wins design for online safety character

AN ELEVEN year old from Bishop Martin Primary School in Skelmersdale has had his design chosen as the winner of a new online safety character competition.

The Early Intervention Team at West Lancashire Police ran the competition with pupils in Year Six, after the team were inundated with requests to give social media abuse and online safety talks to local schools.

The character, named 'Phoney' created by Dominik Szwed (shown, right) will now be used on all educational safety material the team will present from the start of the next school term in September.

PC Paul Harrison from Skelmersdale Police and a panel of judges chose Dominik's design because it 'epitomised the positive and negative uses of mobile phones.'

He added: "Unfortunately social media abuse and online safety is a big issue at the moment, particularly around young people who don't get given any advice on how to use the internet.

"They also have access to social media platforms at an early age, despite there being age restrictions. Hopefully our bespoke educational package will help answer any questions the children have and make them think twice before posting."

Dominik added: "I was shocked and surprised to have won, I thought a lot about what to put into the design, so I'm very happy."

Dominik received a voucher from Argos. He said: "I think I'm going to buy something for my mum."

Most young people are unaware of the implications of posting abusive content. The package talks about malicious communications, online bullying and the criminal implications on future employment and travel prospects.

Any primary schools in West Lancashire who feel there is a need to further educate their pupils can email PC Harrison on 554@lancashire.police.uk

Tee-riffic! Greenkeeper turns around golf club's fortunes

A GOLF course near Skelmersdale once called 'the worst in the UK' is now enjoying a growing reputation for the quality of its course with membership booming.

Beacon Park Golf Club in Up Holland came under fire in the past over landfill issues and a website described it as 'the worst course in the UK' back in 2020.

But bosses at the club say it is now fighting back thanks to the efforts of head greenkeeper, Peter Lawton, who was recruited in 2021.

Mark Snaylam, contract man-

Report by Henry James

ager for Serco Leisure who manage the course said: "Peter and his team of assistant greenkeepers have worked wonders on the course. The definition is back on the fairways and the greens look fantastic."

"Peter created a maintenance plan, with regular mowing regimes, weed and pest control, and regular aeration to the greens."

"The first tee is growing in and we're looking ahead to when we'll be able to open that up for players. We've seen both casual and membership numbers grow compared to pre-pandemic levels, with the course enjoying a rapidly improving reputation among visiting players."

In April, Beacon Park Golf Club was nominated at the England Golf Awards 2022 in the category Sustainability Project of the Year.

The awards noted how investment in fresh equipment and greens in 2021 has 'encouraged former members to return and new golfers to arrive offering hope for the future.'

Friends face heatwaves and thunderstorms in 105-mile charity walk

By Henry James

FRIENDS have undertaken an 'epic adventure' of more than 105 miles - facing 'extreme peril, heatwaves and thunderstorms, walking until they were absolutely broken' and carried on!

Stephen 'Steve' Hardman, 53, from Burscough and Darren 'Daz' Sephton, 55, from Wigan, took on the "The Dales Way" - 100 miles from Harrogate in Yorkshire to Bowness in Cumbria.

They raised nearly £3,000 for Rainbow Hub in Mawdesley on their Walk4Chris challenge in memory of Steve's son Chris who died in 2020, aged just 17, from Mitochondrial disorder.

They started the walk on June 21 and said: "We have blisters, bites, sprains, aches and pains. We have been scared, spooked, hungry and tired. We got lost, found, up, down and virtually out at times but we made it."

"Despite everything, we have laughed until we cried, hugged, bonded, met old friends and made new ones. This was for Christopher and everyone at Rainbow Hub. It has been the experience of a lifetime and we hope we have done you proud."

As they finished their walk on June 26, Darren said: "We want to say a huge thank you to everyone who has walked with us, donated, supported, messaged - it means so much to us."

"You helped us smash our £2,000 target and your kind donations will make the world of difference to Rainbow Hub."

Lyndsay Fahey, chief executive at Rainbow Hub,

said: "Steve and Darren have been amazing and have certainly done us proud."

"We are over the moon and we can't thank them and everyone who supported them enough."

"Chris was a very special young man who will never be forgotten at Rainbow Hub."

Rainbow Hub provides therapeutic services for children and young people with physical and neurological disabilities. Since 2001 they have supported up to 85 families per week, helping children to reach their full potential and gain more independence through fun, hands-on activities, while giving parents the support that they deserve.

Mad About Moths at WWT Martin Mere

The Wildfowl & Wetlands Trust Martin Mere Wetland Centre has recorded over 300 species of moths on our site! To record the species, we use a light trap set up overnight. The moths are attracted to the light, go down the funnel, and hide amongst the egg boxes. Then in the morning, we see what we caught and let the moths go.

Moths and butterflies are in the same family and have a lot in common. Some moths fly during the day, and some moths are brightly coloured. And although many people may think otherwise, only two species of moths in the UK eat clothes; they are tiny and brown and love dark places.

Some of the moths we catch have unusual names like uncertain, turnip and snout! Not all moths are brown and boring - some are huge and brightly coloured, like the elephant hawk-moth, which is bright pink. Different moths have unique adaptations to avoid being eaten by bats. The ruby tiger can detect the bat's echolocation and, in response, folds up its wings and falls out of the sky. Some moths even squeak back at the bats to confuse their echolocation. Aren't moths brilliant?

This week, we used a pheromone, a chemical designed to smell like a female moth used to attract male moths. Specifically, we used it to attract the Lunar Hornet clearwing moth. The lure was highly successful, and three males were attracted to the pheromone immediately! Just like many moths, the Lunar Hornet also has its own unique features. The unusual species looks just like a wasp. It's the perfect mimic, as it avoids being eaten because of its brilliant disguise.

Why not join us for one of our moth trap sessions for the opportunity to get up close to these amazing creatures and take fantastic photos? We have two remaining sessions the weekend of the 9th and 16th of July. No need to book - just head to the Discovery Hide for 11am!

Martin Mere looking for volunteers this summer

*Do you want to feel ‘valued and useful?’
No experience needed, say friendly team*

By Henry James

MARTIN Mere is on the hunt for people to volunteer over the summer season with a wide range of roles available.

From assisting with exciting summer activities such as pond dipping to getting hands-on maintaining the stunning reserve, there is something for everyone to get involved in.

Nick Brooks, general manager said: “You don’t need expert knowledge to volunteer - just a keen interest in people and wildlife and a ‘can-do’ attitude. In return for volunteering, you will get free entry to all WWT Wetland Centres and a 25% discount in the cafe and shop.

“Volunteering at WWT Martin Mere means that you will be surrounded by breathtaking nature and an abundance of exciting species such as avocets, lapwings, terns, oystercatchers, and reed buntings. It is a great learning experience, where you will meet new people and develop new skills!”

As the UK’s leading wetland conservation charity, the Wildfowl & Wetlands Trust is dependent on the generosity of donations and the help of volunteers. Without their support, the charity would be unable to do the fantastic work it does to protect and restore wetlands and bring people closer to nature.

Family activities volunteer Dorothy, who has been volunteering for four years, said: “I started volunteering at Martin Mere in 2018, and to say I’m enjoying myself would be an understatement.

“I’ve gone from being a boring old woman to someone who feels valued and useful. I’ve met some lovely people, and the staff and volunteers are friendly and helpful.”

Martin Mere is searching for volunteers

Visitor services volunteer Pat, who volunteers at Martin Mere once a week, added: “I’ve been volunteering for Martin Mere for about a year.

“I love learning about the wildlife and getting to know the public, and I have gotten involved with exciting activities such as delivering educational other talks.

“I’d encourage others to get started volunteering, there are so many different areas you can get involved in, and everyone is really friendly.”

If you want to learn more about volunteering for the centre’s Visitor Services Team, Grounds Team, or Education Team, get in touch by emailing info.martinmere@wwt.org.uk.

It’s time to

Graham on target as clay shooting returns!

By Henry James

Graham Welsh

FOLLOWING two years of disruption caused by the Covid pandemic and the associated travel restrictions, the sport of clay target shooting is finally getting back to normal and 73-year-old Aughton shooter Graham Welsh is back among the medals again!

Graham recently regained a title which he won in 2019 by winning the Gold Medal in the veterans class at the 2022 'World All Round Championships' in Wales.

Three weeks earlier Graham travelled to York for the Northern Counties Championships and won the title of 'Lancashire All Round Champion 2022.'

All round competitions are multi-discipline, 100 target events, requiring competitors to shoot 25 single barrel trap, 25 automatic trap, 25 skeet and 25 sporting clays.

Graham started shooting competitively in 1976 and has been the Lancashire champion and the North of England regional champion in various clay shooting disciplines for the last 30 years.

He was a member of the victorious England teams that won the Home International tournaments shooting Olympic Skeet in 2001 and 2002.

He said: "It was great to get back into competition shooting and I'm pleased to have won these two titles."

"It is also satisfying to have finished joint fifth overall out of a field of 85 shooters at a world ranking event."

Parents have to take some responsibility

I can only sympathise with the residents of Skelmersdale reading of the appalling things that occur regarding desecrating and destroying the town, as described by John Freddy.

Certainly, I would hate living there.

Nevertheless, it is not up to tax payers or the council to sort this.

Those who live there have to accept the responsibility as it is probable that some of them created this mess, or more likely the youth of the town.

Parents have that responsibility surely?

Patrols needed at beauty spot

I walk my dogs daily on Becon Park.

It is a lovely stretch of open country, well maintained by a team of rangers, manager Steve and ranger Benedict plus random helpers from the community.

Recently I saw them moving a 'Gruffalo' fairy story wood model, which had been vandalized.

Also this week I saw more vandalism to the flora.

The lunatics who did this were probably seeking to amuse themselves by destruction.

Why can't the council plus the police enforce control with random visits and protect this beauty spot.

Graham Walker,
Up Holland

I was thrown off the bus for picking up a free newspaper!

I recently boarded the 3.28pm Skelmersdale to Wroughton bus and picked up a second copy of the free newspaper the Metro.

I had earlier taken the first copy when the bus was standing at the bus stand.

The driver started shouting at me in front of all the other passengers that I was being selfish and inconsiderate as other passengers may want a copy and I had taken two.

I pointed out that it was 3.30pm and it was old news and that would properly end up in the bin but he insisted that I was greedy at which point I gave him it back.

He then ordered me off the bus stating that I had verbally abused him and told me I was barred from the bus, this after he had just embarrassed me in front of the whole bus.

I got off the bus and he drove off leaving me with bags of shopping and no easy way to get home as no other bus goes my route.

When I arrived home, I emailed the bus company to complain, I explained what happened and received a reply from the operations manager who apologised for the incident and said he would interview the driver and assured me that I was not barred from Preston Bus services.

The Metro newspaper is a free newspaper and nowhere on the buses does it state only one copy to each passenger.

It was also 3.30pm so most of the remaining copies would have been destined for the bin at the end of the shift.

So passengers be warned if you take two copies of the Metro newspaper you may well be evicted from the bus if you get the same driver I had the unfortunate chance to meet.

Name supplied,
via email

Pedestrian access could be added to Derby Street bridge

I have read your story about the Lancashire County Council's decision to make Derby Street bridge in Ormskirk a one lane system based on computerised detailed monitoring.

This is based on people doing computerised traffic modelling which Councillor Gareth Dowling says is a decision based on flawed evidence.

I agree as this takes no account of two of the most important inputs into a computer model namely human beings and the fact that running two lanes into one will cause massive tailbacks.

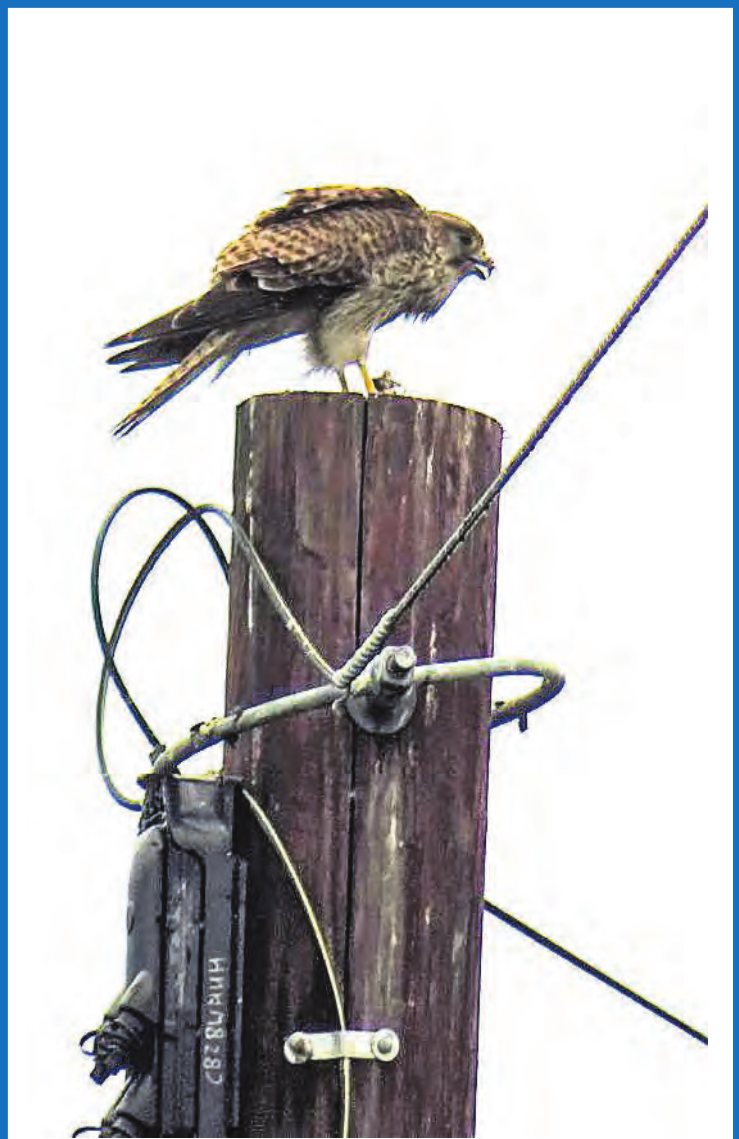

The easy solution would be to widen the lanes by removing footpaths and add pedestrian access on both sides of the bridge.

This works perfectly on Bridge

Street even though only one pedestrian access is provided.

New park maps to lead dog walkers to nearest bin location

Council hope it will reduce number of poo bags left on ground

Report by Henry James

DOG owners who walk their pets in Beacon Country Park are being given a helping hand by West Lancs Borough Council, the Dogs Trust and Keep Britain Tidy to make it easier for them to responsibly bin the black bag!

The council has been working with the Dogs Trust on new maps which show where dog mess bins are located in the park for dog walkers.

There are also colour-coded walking routes which clearly mark the length of the walk and direct walkers to the nearest bins to dispose of their dogs' waste. The bins and signage will be in place until November.

The Walk This Way project is a joint endeavour between The Dogs Trust and Keep Britain Tidy,

The new maps which show where the dog mess bins are starting in 2017. This year, the programme has been extended to include just 12 new sites in the UK, including Beacon Country Park.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, leader of West Lancashire Borough Council, said: "We are really pleased to be one of only 12 new sites included in the Walk This Way programme and the new maps and bins will really help dog owners by showing where they need to dispose of their dog's mess."

Michelle Moat, community education and engagement officer at Dogs Trust, said: "Previous interventions have shown that by having more bins available, clearer signposting and messaging that 'Any Bin Will Do' has dramatically improved the surrounding areas.

"We're excited by the potential of our new Walk This Way routes and can't wait to see the improvements it will make. Hopefully it will be a long-term change to the area and make the space more enjoyable for everyone."

Gingerbread Festival returns this weekend

THE Gingerbread Festival will return to Ormskirk Town Centre on Sunday, July 10 after a two year break because of the pandemic.

The fifth installment will include a range of live entertainment, stalls and refreshments.

Visitors can park free of charge at Edge Hill University and Charlton's coaches will provide transport back and forth to Ormskirk Town Centre on a regular basis. Operating from 10.30am – 4.30pm, this will be completely free of charge.

Linnets travel to Prestwich Heys in season opener

THE reign of new Burscough manager Leon Mike will begin at Prestwich Heys on the opening day of the North West Counties Premier Division season on Saturday, July 30, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

The Linnets' first home game is a midweek one as Longridge Town travel to the Community on Tuesday, August 2 for a 7.45pm kick off.

Burscough don't have a home Saturday league game until at least September.

Although there are to be 42 games in the Premier Division this coming season, the league announced an initial batch covering the August period last week.

Burscough will have played seven league games by the end of August, making it a hectic and arguably season shaping period, especially when there is also a potential two FA Cup rounds to negotiate.

Linnets manager Leon Mike

Because Skelmersdale are now in a higher step in the football pyramid than Burscough this year they won't enter the FA Cup until Saturday, September 3.

Skelmersdale supporters will have to wait a little longer to begin their league season, which will start on Saturday, August 13 and the fixture list has not been released yet.

Skem have a friendly this Saturday when they visit local side Winstanley Warriors for a 2pm kick off.

They will also be in with a chance to win silverware when they take on Charnock Richard at their Mossie Park ground on Saturday, July 23 (kick off 3pm) in the Reusch Champions Cup Final.

Burscough have a home game on Saturday, July 16 (kick off 3pm) when Northern Premier League Division West, City of Liverpool, will be the visitors for a friendly.

Knight leads way with bat before Shehzad seals win for Ormskirk

ORMSKIRK are in second place in the Liverpool Competition Premier Division table after a comprehensive 101 run victory over Wigan on Saturday.

Ormskirk's innings had got off to a rocky start after both openers fell cheaply to Joshua Boyden to leave the scored on 8-2.

But George Lavelle steadied the ship scoring 36 and captain Gary Knight top scored with 90 to lead the recovery.

Robert Rankin scored 27 and Sam Marsh hit an unbeaten 50 for Ormskirk's innings to end on 260-8 declared after 54.5

overs.

Jamie Barnes and Sam Mars then removed both Wigan openers and Zahir Shehzad then claimed five wickets for 69 runs as Wigan were dismissed for 159 in 46.4 overs.

Calum Turner scored a magnificent unbeaten century (119*) including 15 fours and 4 sixes to lead Formby to a stunning eight wicket victory over table toppers Wallasey.

Wallasey had scored 230-4 declared in 52.5 overs, with opener Jamie Crawley scoring 55 and Sumit Ruikar tops coring with 60.

Formby lost opener Ollie Sutton for 9 but Sam Oldham made 33 and Ankit Kalsi scored an unbeaten 67 as he and Turner put on a 150 run partnership to stun the Premier Division leaders and take their team home.

Southport & Birkdale lost by three wickets to Newton-le-Willows in a tightly fought game.

Elsewhere Leigh beat Birkenhead Park, Northern beat New Brighton, Orrell Red Triangle beat Rainhill.

In Division One Ainsdale lost to Bootle by three wickets and Fleewood hesketh lost to Spring View by 70 runs.

Hurrah! MG's making exciting cars again

MG is back. Even though, I suspect, you hadn't realised it'd been away.

Yes, I know that last year MG was Britain's fastest growing car manufacturer and right now it can sell you four different models – six if you start counting all the separate hybrid and all-electric spinoffs. Nope, you don't need to remind me that the octagon-badged cars you can buy today can trace their roots back to the original Morris Garages operation, which next year celebrates its centenary. Or that you can now buy MGs from more than 150 dealers, dotted around the country. Hardly the muted whisper of a marque that's dropped below the radar.

But now MG is back in the proper sense – as in a carmaker that upsets the applecart by bringing out models that look good and go like stink. About time, chaps.

The MG4 is China's answer to the Volkswagen ID3 and the second-generation Nissan LEAF, which means it's all-electric and brings a 280-mile range to the party. That's a worthy contribution to Britain's lunge towards net zero, but not what pricks up the hairs of someone who's driven countless MGs over the years and spent nine years savouring the bass-rich burble of an MGB GT. Nope, it's the fact that while the initial launch versions will perform respectably enough, when the range-topper eventually arrives it will have the zero emissions equivalent of – wait for it – 443bhp.

That's more than you get from a Mercedes-Benz A45 AMG or an Audi RS3, meaning that the hottest MG4 will be the quickest MG since the SV supercar of the early Noughties. The MG4 also uses all-new underpinnings aimed at giving a perfect 50/50 weight distribution and all the power gets sent to the back wheels, not the front – the sales pitch BMW used to use to justify its "Ultimate Driving Machine" strapline before it went all sensible and started flogging you the 2-Series Active Tourer. In a nutshell, it has the potential to outgun a Golf R and keep Greenpeace happy.

Of course, VW is working on a hot version of its ID3 too – a GTI model in all but name

The new MG4 is being launched here in September

– but it's great to see the MG badge actually being slapped onto something truly deserving of its sporty credentials. Sure, it isn't a two-seater roadster (don't worry, they're working on it) but I love the idea of the MG4 being a sort of Metro Turbo for zero emissions millennials. It's even easy on the eye; it's not quite as striking as, say, a Kia EV6, but it makes the latest MG5 look Paleolithic by comparison.

So welcome back, MG, and best of British with making quick, exciting cars again. All you have to now is follow the lead of Jaguar and Bentley and start remaking some of your old classics too. I'll have an MGB GT V8 in Damask Red, please...
